

Restoration Advisory Board

Be a part of your Restoration Advisory Board!

Restoration Advisory Board

- A Restoration Advisory Board is a group of interested local community members who meet with, and provide input to, Navy and state and federal regulatory agency staff a few times per year to discuss environmental cleanup on the installation
- Meetings are open to the public
- Meeting frequency is established by members
- To establish a Restoration Advisory Board, the Navy needs:
 - At least 6 community members committed to fulfilling Restoration Advisory Board responsibilities
 - A variety of people representing diverse interests from the local community

What Are Restoration Advisory Board Member Responsibilities?

- Attend meetings a few times per year
- Receive a member-only orientation
- Develop, maintain, and follow a formal Restoration Advisory Board charter
- Provide input from the community to Navy decision-makers
- Review and comment on various technical documents and related area information
- Serve as a liaison with the community and provide them with information discussed at the Restoration Advisory Board meetings

We Need Your Participation!

If you are interested in joining the Restoration Advisory Board, please complete an application.

Applications are posted on the Community Outreach tab at <http://go.usa.gov/xSvtx>.

Please complete application tonight or online on the website.

Next Steps

- Applications considered by a selection committee
- Applicants notified
- Applicants contacted to attend orientation
- Learn roles and responsibilities
- Review charter

The purpose of this open house (in person and online) is to measure public interest in revitalizing a Restoration Advisory Board for environmental cleanup at the Norfolk Naval Shipyard. The Restoration Advisory Board gives the community a voice in the cleanup process

Restoration Advisory Board membership is a commitment.

- The board provides input to the Navy's decision maker
- The board meets routinely – 1 to 3 times a year
- You may be asked to review plans and project information
- The board is the interface with the community

If we do not have enough interest to revitalize the Restoration Advisory Board, there are other ways to remain informed

- Public meetings
- Public comment periods
- Website Updates

If you are interested in the Restoration Advisory Board, please fill out an application.